Brushwood Center's newest art exhibit, Enriching Life at Brushwood Center, opens Sunday, January 8th, 1-3pm. Free. No registration. Exhibition runs January 8 - February 27, 2017.

Explore the captivating art created by the Botanical Artists of Brushwood Center in this exhibition curated by award-winning artist and instructor, Heeyoung Kim.

About Heeyoung Kim:

"In the spirit of natural history artists of the past, contemporary botanical artist, Heeyoung Kim documents native plants of Midwestern USA. Her exquisite and deftly painted compositions portray native woodland and prairie plants. Giving priority to rare and endangered species, she also paints common ones when they have high ecological value. Kim is exclusively represented by Joel Oppenheimer Gallery, Chicago, IL., as the first and only living artist among classic masters represented by the renowned natural history art gallery."*
